Fine form Known for its whimsical collection of furniture items featuring vintage pieces and its own sumptuous fabrics, EDIT has released a mannequin range that's just perfect for the boudoir. The mannequins are priced from $950, depending on choice of base and detailing. This one, with painted timber base and featuring "Scarves" hemp fabric, is $1200. Phone (02) 9358 5806 or see edit-group.com.au.

Magic lanterns Having already enjoyed success with its fire-retardant, biodegradable, disposable paper products (notably chair covers) in a decadent range of designs, Shimmy studio is now offering these cute candle bags. Designed for tables, walkways or hanging in trees, they're a magical sight when grouped together like this. From $4 each. Phone (02) 9517 9077 or see shimmychaircovers.com.

Chin up Keep Calm and Carry On! Now there's a fine piece of very British advice when you're getting hot under the collar and a cup of tea and a lie-down is not an option. Based on a British wartime poster, the slogan can now be found on everything from aprons and mugs to bags and posters. We like the tea towel version, $25. See larkmade.com.au.

Cushioned in glory Chelsea de Luca, best known for her Swarovski crystal-encrusted jewellery, has branched out into homewares, launching a line of luxurious-looking cushions called Songs For Lazy Sunday. Made of silk velvet, each one features a crystal cluster in the centre. The cushions come in two sizes priced at $89 and $169. Phone (07) 3358 6880.

Feat of clay For 700 years Colombian artisans have been hand-moulding pots from coarse black clay and we're told little has changed in the way they are produced. The La Chamba flame-proof cookware still has the same tactile, handmade appeal it's had for centuries and has great heat-retaining qualities. The extensive range is priced from $30 to more than $100. Phone 1300 799 336.
